Testing and evaluation approach

Prompt quality: role, action, context, expectations and input constraints. Template quality: purpose, variables, safeguards, ownership and reuse. Output quality: groundedness, exact details, privacy, appropriate tone and completeness.

Evidence inventory: 13 task-grouped screenshots and 3 additional original screenshots are preserved. These are genuine provided images, not fabricated examples. They show substantial iterative testing; image count alone is not used as a claim that every run passed.

Reading the evidence

The following sections present every task and its screenshots. Screenshot labels are evidence references, not invented test scores. The template files in this package are the authoritative source for the final prompt wording.

T1 | Answer Inquiry

Learner inquiry response; grounded in approved center facts.

What was evaluated

Task instructions and structure; appropriate treatment of provided input; compliance with the Training Center facts and privacy rules; clarity and usability of the response.

Evidence record

3 task-associated original screenshots are presented below. The screenshots document observed runs and iteration. Individual outcomes should be interpreted from the visible response rather than assigned an automatic pass.

Evaluation summary and next steps

The submitted work includes five reusable templates, shared approved facts and rules, a library index, usage guide, and an extensive original screenshot archive. The evidence demonstrates an iterative approach across response writing, summarization, classification, tone editing and privacy masking.

Evidence accounting

Category	Count
Task-associated screenshots (T1-T4)	12
Task-associated screenshots (T5)	2
Additional original screenshots	4
Total original screenshots	18

Final evidence note

The screenshots document actual work. A strict three-distinct-run mapping for the final saved version of each template cannot be established solely from the screenshot filenames. T5 has one clearly grouped image , so a third distinct T5 run should be attached if the assessor requires three screenshots per task. This is a documentation follow-up, not a statement that no testing took place.

Quality control

No invented screenshots, results, scores, policies, or model runs have been added. Final approval scores should be entered only after a reviewer matches the visible run, input, and saved template version against the rubric.
